Monday ~~morning~~ night
June, 17th, 1918.

My dearest Mother,

I am very well to-day and have been hoping to get some mail from you. Yesterday and to-day I have written a host of letters to almost every one that I knew. But I think it was my last good chance for a while and I took advantage of the occasion. Among those I wrote to were the following names—Daddy, Mother, Lucia,

"Bill Nye", Mr Wildburger,
Albert Massey, Dudley, Hamblet, Aunt Jennie
and Aunt Mattie. Well I think that a very good list for one shot. Also one to a friend in Little Rock and two letters to chums of mine in the French army. They were

Lieuts whom I was assigned with in March and they were fine men. One was an old man in the medical corps the other a young lieut in the battery where Apperson was wounded. Apperson from the last account is still recuperating and I hope he will be sent back to us.

Much love to all, dear
Mother,
Your devoted son
T. Joyce,
